An Awakened Nation-

No wonder, when we consider all these things, the Chanceller of the Exchequer can speak of the amazing prosperity of the nution." Old England is undoubtedly awake to day, prepared to battle for its right position in "the ove of the sun" and more than ever capable of saying to the world at large that in all matters of commerce and industry it is resolved upon securing a fair field and will ask for no favours from any man. Of course, there are exceptions, that is the rule of life, but, taken in the mass, England has adgained her moral balunce, has reburnished her weapinly, and is once more in the van of phyries. Chinese Press.

Peking papers 'some twenty' are discussed by the "Mirror." There are only nine of these which may be characterised as "excellent," five are classfied as "good," one is designated " mediocro," two ure severely denounced as "low class" sheets purely destructive in their policy and edited only with a view to making profit by hook or by crook, whilst three are unclassed though we may take it upon oursolves to describe them as distinctly undesirable since they deal with goseip and scandal in a manner calculated to seriously harm the morals of Peking society. Official control of Chinese newspapers should aim at eliminating as far: it possible the two latter classes. Any action that the Covernment may contemplate should have for its object the elevating and purifying of the tone of its public newspapers. China is now passing through a phase in its history. when much good or much linring may result from the policy of its press, and the Government, while not stifling reasonable and temperate criticism, should endeau our to cultivate a Press which shall be thoroughly moral in its lone, consistant in policy, intelligent and reliable.

CHINESE CALENDAR REFORM.

"I never know the old gentleman with the scythe and hour glass bring anything but grey hairs, thin cheeks and loss of teeth." Dryden like all western people took time seriously. It was not to be wicker basket and portmanteau played with, and the correct method of existence was to live in the past and worry over the future. In China another contradiction is added to the list which forms the great peculiarity of the Chi. On arrival at Canton, the race. They live in the present, forget as little as possible of the past and make gentle preparation for the future. Time is not in a country to which the passing of a century is but as a dream in the night. According to a message from Peking, Dake Tsai Tse, one of the progressivists at present holding office, has put forward proposals for the reform of the Chinese calendar. If his suggestions come to anything at all, the Japanese precedent of adopting Customs authorities. The concluding game of the first round of the competition; noon, the contesting teams being he K.O.Y.L.I. and 87th Co., R.G.A. The match aroused a great amount of interest and was fought at a fast pace. The teams

K.O.Y.I.I.; Chapman; Nowman and Priestland; Medley; Boreham, Smith and Munro.

87th Co. R. G. A. Beesley; Ioneysett and Buxton; Baucroft; Taylor, Naylor and Ansell. The first half was greatly in favour of the R.G.A., who in the first few minutes seemed to have weighed up their opponents. At was no surpriso when Taylor opened the secre, to borquickly followed by a second from Naylor.

The Yorkshires made asplendid attempt to diminish the Gamers' lead. But it was not until Ansell had added a third that Munro, with a capital shot scored tho only point for the R.G.A.

Half-time: K.O.Y.L.I: 3;

In the second half the game was much more even, and reveral times the K.O.Y.L.I. come very near scoring. Their centre, Sigith, was without doubt the best man on the side, and but for a little hestimey on two occasions he must have registered a goal. On the first occasion he had the goal at his morey, and was preparing to shoot when Buxton dashed up and hindered the movement. On the second occasion he was badly fouled, but the referee allowed the incident to pass. Just after this second attempt the ball was transferred to the other end and Paylor, in waiting, had no difficulty in putting on the Yorkshires' fourth and last point.

Final: K.O.Y.L.I: 4; R.G.A.: 1. This afternoon the first match in the second round will be played if the weather permits between the V.R.C. and the B.O.C. The B.O.O. have gained a little reputation by their splendid victory overthe 88th Co., R.G.A., and the match is sure to be an exciting There appears to be little one, in smuch as the V.R.O. damage caused as a result of this have, it is said, the best team in morning's visitation. # LOG BOOK.

Straits Steamship Co.

Last week, the Straits Steam-ship Company's new vessel, the AERTEX Krian, started on a trial trip from off Johnston's Pier and proceeded in the direction of Horsburgh. lighthouse. It was a splended run, the vessel was crowded and overyone aboard enjoyed the outing thoroughly. Mr. J. II. Sunner, the marine superintendent of the company and Mr. J. D. B. Kellar, assistant government marine surveyor, were present. During the run the vessel averaged twolve knots and proved remarkably steady; indeed, when she came out from Greenock and encountered some heavy weather both in the Bay and in the Indian Ocean her seaworthiness was commented upon. The Krian is 210 feet between perpendiculars, has a beam of 35 feet and a depth of 13 feet, her registered tonnage being 453. A special feature of the vessel is that, unlike other boats of the company's fleet, hereargo arrangements are amidships, there being fittings for 190 head of cattle on the main deck. She is a shelter deck ship with a well deck forward and has been built to British corporation rules, fulfilling the Board of Trade requirements for passenger vessels trading in the East There is accommodation for first and second class passongers, electric light and fans being installed She carries steel lifeboats, and also a 23 feet Kelvin motor launch. The Krian will eventually be placed on the East coast run, but at pre-Bent will trade between Singapore, Malacca, Port Swettenham and Toluk Anson.

Pearling Lugger Capsizes.

A fatal disaster occurred on the 12th alt., somewhere between McIville Island and the mainland. Captain Edward's pearling lugger Neptune, had started to come into Port Darwin. The diver was seated on deck, fully dressed ex- By cept for his helmot, he having just finished work for the maps. One of the crew, a new and an inexperienced hand, was steering, and it is supposed that the boat was lunning before the wind when a sudden stronger pull caused the boom to jibe, and the lugger capsized. The diver, tender, and two of the crew were drowned. The other-two members erew were picked by another logger after SUN swimming some hours. The lost lugger was the best boat in Captain Edward's fleet and had a quantity of shells on board taken during the neaps.

Britain's Biggest Boats

In the construction of the mammoth new Cunarder Aquitaniant Messrs. John Brown's yard. Clydebank, Glasgow, an important stage was reached when the ceremony took place of laying the first keel-plate on the berth which has been carefully piled and THE specially prepared to receive hor. So far the dimensions of this steamer have not been officially given, but we are informed she will be Britain's biggest boat, therefore the largest in world. Although little been heard of the progress made on the vessel since the official announcement that the Canard Company had placed an order for a large steamer with Mossis, Julin Brown, work has novertheless been proceeding quietly and unostentationsly for some time past. A large portion Honekong, 19th March, 1908. [41 Hangkong, 1st Mar., 1911. [431] of Messrs. John Brown simmense yard has been set aside for the work in competion with the construction of the giant Cunarder. A number of civil engineers, with a small army of assistants, have been actively engaged in the preparation of the berth, the erection of imposing machine shops, the longthening of the existing dock, putting into position now stool gantries and cranos, laying new railway tracks, and other work nocessary to cope with the extraordinary massive machinery and structural parts for the new ship. At the same time the builders' have been busily obtaining veritable mount ins of material. A portion of the huge steel girders to form part of the yossel's double bottom have been publogotherou a temporary berth. and longitudian and transverse girders for about 700 feet of the vossel's longth amidships have been propared. It will be remembered that Messrs, John Brown were the builders of the Lucitania.
